MINES AND MINING

Good Work Going On in La Plata Properties.

RICH ROCK AT MARYSVALE

The Lemhi Placers, and the Outlook at Ruby Creek—Ore and Bullion.

Those who, last fall, lost faith in the mining properties of La Plata, because of a fear that the depth of the snow would prevent any work being done during the winter season, are gradually coming to the belief that they were greatly mistaken. In the face of one of the hardest winters known in the history of Utah for twenty years past, the great majority of the La Plata properties have been working up to the present time, and will be kept going from now on.

"One or two properties have been shut down, it is true," said J. A. Hirschman, a miner who recently visited the Cattle valley camp, "but that was caused undoubtedly by other reasons than a hard winter. The La Plata, Santa Rosa, Blaine, Lost Sheep, Yellow Jacket, Thomas, Alice, Bull of the Woods, Humming Bird, North Star, Cohn, Alexander, and others whose names do not now occur to me have been doing work ever since they were first discovered. Many of them are now down from seventy-five to one hundred feet, and in nearly all a most excellent showing is made."

Speaking of the recent cave discovered in the La Plata, the Journal says: "This discovery was made a few days ago, when the workmen in the north drift, eighty feet from the shaft, suddenly broke into a side channel entering the mine cave. Foreman Harrison was notified of the new change, and after squaring up the entrance the main caves were opened. The main channel or cave is about the dimensions of a good-sized room, with narrow halls leading to other caves of less size. The general course of the caves is from the east, dipping at an angle of 10 degrees to the west. A wash of sedimentary deposit overlies the bottom of these chambers, thus enabling admission either way, but as far as the light of a candle can be reflected the channels continue into the earth. It is plain to be seen that the caves extend to an enormous depth down the hill toward the camp. To the west small nuggets of galena are found in the caves, but nothing to speak of has been shown to prove the deposit of any amount of silver here—unless it be on the bottom of the chambers."

Ruby Creek Camp, Idaho.

It really looks as if Idaho would come to the front during the present year in a mineral way. Of course, the deep snows at the present time impede the work of the prospector and miner in all the established camps; but just as soon as the snow clears away work will be resumed on many a prospect hole and small mine that the winter taken caused the miner to desert. Ruby Creek camp, situated forty-five miles east of Moscow, is in a district that will have considerable attention paid to it during the coming spring and summer. About forty men are now at work in the camp, and this number will soon be increased to at least 100 by the early spring. The Star says of the properties now being worked:

"On the Sunset, the tunnel has been driven in 280 feet. We then started sinking a shaft, and when I left a depth of twenty feet had been attained. The ore is of the same character as in the tunnel, and just as rich. In twenty feet the least increased eight inches in width, making it four and one-half feet wide. The ore is chloride of silver and lead."

"The Mary May is down thirty-five feet, and they now have a vein of chert and lead four feet wide. This property is one of the most promising in Ruby Creek, and will no doubt attract considerable attention as soon as the present contract is completed. They will sink a shaft on the lead to a sufficient depth, when they will drive a tunnel to meet it."

"Mr. John P. Vollmer will commence work on the Silver King early in the spring with a large force of men, and will work with the most approved machinery, including diamond drills."

"Mr. Fotheringham, the agent for the Tacoma smelter, who visited the camp about three months ago with reference to putting in a concentrator there in the spring, has sent word that he will be here again early in March. At the time of his visit he was very much impressed with the prospects of Ruby Creek, and his coming again shows that he has lost none of his interest in the camp."

"The Hamlin brothers are making preparations to let another contract on their mine, the Free Coinage, and will do so very soon. They have a good showing, and it will pay them to keep in the line of progress."

The Lemhi Placers. The Lemhi Placer company now employs a force of fifty-five men, besides the teamsters. Quite a number of these are at work on the saw mill that will start up in a few weeks, and the others are sinking shafts and prospecting.

Rich Rock at Marysvale. Martin Higgins, a prospector at Marysvale, recently got an assay from a piece of rock taken from one of his properties that caused him to feel that life was worth living after all. It ran $5,104.30 to the ton.

Dull Times in Coeur d'Alene. The closing down of the Poorman, Tiger, Custer, and six or eight other prominent mines in the Coeur d'Alene region has caused exceedingly dull times. It now begins to look as though the closing down was a permanent one, for the pumps are being taken out of some of the mines. Two hundred and fifty miners recently left

Wallace, for Butte, the Union Pacific making the fare $15 each.

Ore and Bullion. McCormick & Co. received yesterday: silver and lead ores, $5,100.

Wells, Fargo & Co. received: Bullion, $884.

T. R. Jones & Co. received: Base bullion, $2,700; silver and lead ores, $4,800.

NEW WASHINGTON, PENN., PEOPLE. Are not slow about taking hold of a new thing, if the article has merit. A few months ago David Byers, of that place, bought his first stock of Chamberlain's cough remedy. He has sold it all and ordered more. He says: "It has given the best of satisfaction. I have warranted every bottle, and have not had one come back." 50 cent and $1 bottles for sale by Z. C. M. I. Drug department.

IRISH-AMERICANS. There will be a meeting of the Irish-Americans and their friends at the Copley hotel parlors on Tuesday evening, the 23rd instant, at 7 p. m., to arrange for giving a ball on St. Patrick's night for the benefit of a fund for the erection of a monument for the late Gen. P. E. Connor.

THE PUBLIC PULSE.

[Communications under this head are published on all proper subjects at the responsibility of the writer.]

Reservoir Sites. To the Editor of THE HERALD:

Can you give us the law governing the location of reservoir sites on the public domain?

INAPAT, Utah, February 8.

ANSWER. In March, 1888, the Congress adopted a resolution authorizing the secretary of the interior to cause an examination to be made of that portion of the arid regions where agriculture is carried on by means of irrigation, as to the natural advantages for the storage of water for irrigating purposes with the practicability of constructing reservoirs, etc. In pursuance of this resolution the secretary caused to be withdrawn from entry and settlement certain tracts of land for reservoir sites. Surveys are still being made as to such sites, under the direction of the geological survey.—Editor.

AMUSEMENTS. Hanlons' "Superba" has evidently struck the fancy of the town very hard. The house last night was crowded to even a greater extent than on the opening night, and everybody went away satisfied that the Hanlons are the greatest producers of spectacular drama that have yet made a bid for popular favor.

The management has decided to give a special matinee this afternoon at 2:30, introducing their best features, at popular prices. The engagement will close to-night.
